

Will You Be My Mentor?

What you can do today to find the right mentor for you

Finding the Right Mentor to Help You Reach Your Fullest Potential

Someone cried out in desperation today:

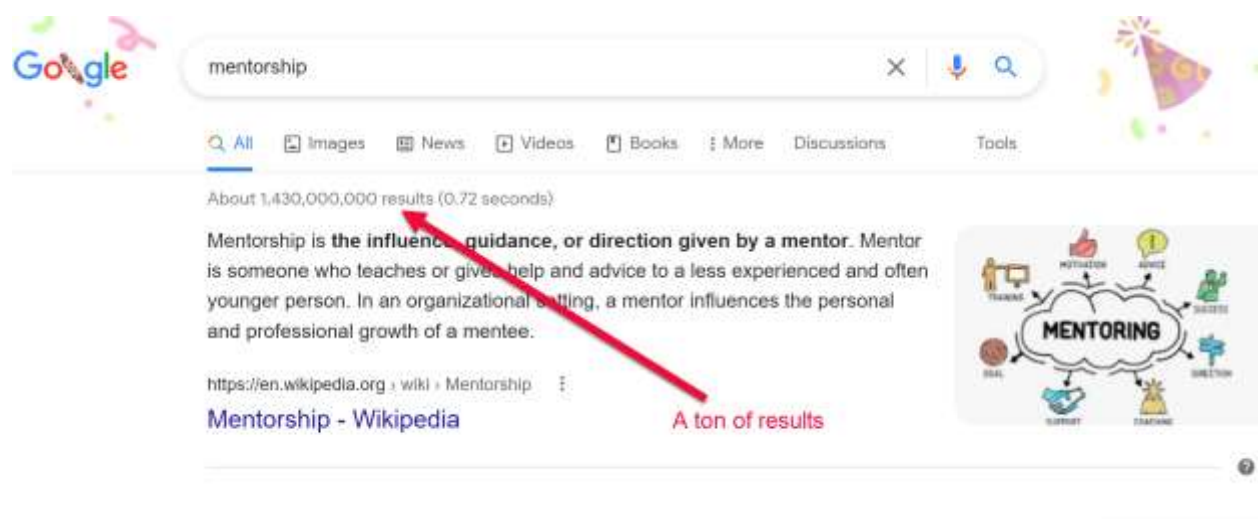

“How do I do the things that God wants me to do if I can't hear him? I really need the Lord now my life is falling apart. I can't pray anymore, no Bible study, no praise but I can't stop telling the wonders of the Lord. Help me find my way.” - Lucia Stick with me for the next 10 minutes.

If you google “mentorship” you will get a ton of results.

But very few of them, if any, can address the question Lucia asked above.

She needs someone who can help her find her way.

Many of today’s mentors will go about Lucia’s problem in different ways.

Our idea of mentorship goes beyond the natural realm.

It is anchored deeply in the spiritual.

There is something I call prophetic mentorship.

Let me explain.

With a few examples.

Apostle Paul was a mentor to the next generation (through young Timothy).

Moses was a mentor to the following generation (through Joshua).

Mentor

a wise and trusted counselor or teacher.

Mentorship - the influence, guidance, or direction given by a mentor.

- Merriam-Webster dictionary

Mentorship can come in various forms, shapes, and sizes.

I saw an unusual example recently.

Once out in the suburbs of Los Angeles where the world's top celebrities call home, I met an unusual prayer eagle.

I asked her what she does for a living.

"I make young girls beautiful," came her reply.

Not just skin-deep, celebrity-level beautiful.

But beautiful inside and outside.

How does that work? I asked.

She used to be a schoolteacher.

Years ago, she noticed that her teenage daughter, who spent much time glued to social media, was beginning to suffer from depression and low self-esteem.

As she looked around, she observed that many parents were struggling with kids having the same problems.

Their teenagers and young adults were manifesting symptoms of depression, unhappiness, and a lack of self-esteem at an alarming rate.

She felt that social media somehow had a sinister role to play in this.

Her suspicion was ...

... there was an insidious message in social media apps that was detrimental to the healthy psychological and spiritual development of teenagers and young adults.

What could this this hidden message possibly be?

“You can never be good enough or measure up to others who appear more beautiful, interesting, and desirable.”

“Be very dissatisfied with yourself”

“You are of no value (and no one will admire you) unless you aspire to be like those beautiful people.”

After a bit of research, she became convinced that these young impressionable minds have bought into this evil mindset ...

... and this was partly to blame for the downward spiral into drugs, sexual perversions, and suicidal tendencies among that particular age-group.

(Incidentally, her suspicions have now been validated by respected academic research).

So, what could she do about it?

She went to the Holy Spirit ... who gave her something she calls a “Beauty Blueprint.”

Draw a line in the sand...

She needed a way to implement her beauty blueprint.

How did she do it?

She bravely set up herself as a beauty expert and opened a nail salon in high-brow Beverly Hills, California.

She tells her ideal prospect she can make her celebrity-level beautiful in a specific amount of time ...

... using all-natural, organic products not readily available anywhere else.

Her inspiration comes from scripture.

(She told me to check out the person called Hegai in Esther chapter 2).

In her elaborate beauty program, there is more than meets the eye.

She literally becomes a mentor to these young women.

Her unstated goal is to raise the Esthers of this generation.

But she first must find a common ground ... and win their trust.

And she does that by waving this beauty carrot in front of them.

I watched her in action and met a few of her young clientele.

Her timely intervention in their lives may have saved many from committing suicide.

Once I engaged in a conversation at her studio.

We talked about everything from current events to spiritual matters.

One of the girls surprised me ...

... by saying that my views were exactly like the beautician's – but expressed in a different way.

I thought about that comment for a long time.

This was from someone who would not ordinarily listen to anything I have to say on such matters...

... but she is perfectly willing to listen to her trusted advisor...

... who just happens to share my views on many things!

What is needed today?

Mentorship by fire

Do you see yourself playing an active role in building the kingdom of Christ ... before His return?

OR ...

Do you find yourself in the position of the person in the opening pages of this letter?

Then you need a trusted mentor.

Better still ...

You need a mentor who is on fire.

Prayer Advisor Rose and I have spent hours scouring through thousands of posts in the Forum.

So far, we have identified many of our members who should be mentoring others...

... simply by following their posts and watching the quality of advice they share inside the Forum.

We look for Eagles who have acquired the fire and know how to transfer that fire in the course of their ministration to others.

What is this fire?

Look at this great example (this Eagle has asked to remain anonymous):

“I would like to inform you that I am now surrounded with fire.

It started when I joined PA. When I was in UK the places I used to sit and pray would start to burn, after some time white beautiful flowers would appear!

At first I was not sure I thought someone had put on the fire!

Then one day the Holy Spirit revealed to me that fire represents the presence of the LORD.

He said I was now surrounded with the presence of the LORD wherever I go. When I mentioned the fire to a friend in USA she said that she first felt the fire when I prayed for her mother who was ill on the phone.

And then last week she felt the fire when I did the opening prayer for our conference on zoom during our yearly church conference.

We give the glory to the Lord for all these wonders and miracles that are happening!

A lot of shocking things have been happening I can write a book!"

Do you feel this fire pushing you to help mentor someone?

Then drop me a line.

I want to hear from you.

Tell me the area you'd like to mentor in.

You can suggest a brand-new category and we will create it for you.

Our platform will identify likely candidates for you.

We will send them your way.

Because ...

A powerful thing happens when you embrace this mentorship mindset.

You will begin to see your own mentors seemingly appearing out of nowhere!

Recently, I wondered why younger and younger people were joining the Prayer Academy.

Well, it is because of the activities of Eagles like this beautician of Beverly Hills.

Just recently I saw this email in my inbox:

“I would like to know if Firesprings ministry has a mentorship program for people below their 20s?

But I would like to be mentored too. I am below 25 at the moment but I am in dire need for mentorship too.

I would like to please ask that Firesprings ministry consider it in the near future for maybe doing programs for us in our 20s? Even though we are most probably the minority but you please also consider us? We are here 🙋 I am here,

I participated in the program that was offered in the 24hr blog forum. But I agree that I need mentoring at this stage. I am genuinely struggling on how to pick and who to pick.”

– Precious T

What does it tell us?

Do you think that’s a coincidence?

Not at all.

This is a signal that millions of young people are crying out for mentorship right now.

We can look at this as something akin to what happened to Apostle Paul in Acts 16.

And a vision appeared to Paul in the night. A man of Macedonia stood and pleaded with him, saying, “Come over to Macedonia and help us.” Now after he had seen the vision, immediately we sought to go to Macedonia, concluding that the Lord had called us to preach the gospel to them. – Acts 16:9-10

Just one more example and we're done

An unusual one at that.

Someone received a powerful revelation 20-odd years ago.

It was on how to turn any child into a math genius.

(She has advanced degrees in math and engineering).

What did you do with the revelation? I asked.

“I wrote it all down in the form of a booklet, intending to organize it for publication. You know, I was writing it down just as I received it... not very well organized...”

What happened next? I pressed.

Nothing.

She had a lot of other pressing things demanding for her attention.

It is still gathering digital dust on her computer.

I have persuaded her to get it ready for Mentorgram, our web app mentoring platform which has just entered beta testing phase.

She is excited. And ready.

Especially after I told her the story of the Beautician of Beverly Hills.

I once mentioned her case during the "3 Divine Helpers" program.

Many parents have been writing since to inquire about it.

Like this:

Greetings elisha,

Regarding the mentoring/mentorship I would really be grateful if you can connect with the author of "How to make your child a Maths genius ". Pardon me if I got the title wrong. I am a Mathematics teacher and would love to get hold of the book and also get mentored on how to write a maths book also.

Thanks in advance.

- Eagle Sunum

And this...

I thank God for you and your ministry. My life has never been the same, it is from glory to glory by the grace of God through you my coach.

I am trying to get the book "10 strategies to turn any child into a math genius" from Amazon but cannot seem to find it. Kindly advise me on how can I get this book. I would like to use it for my children.

I am grateful.

- Pauline

Make no mistake about it.

This one simple idea has the potential of connecting her to millions of people who desperately need her help...

... if executed under the precise guidance of the Holy Spirit.

These are the same people who will buy her books, subscribe to her podcasts, join her coaching programs, etc.

Now think.

Have you written a book on any subject?

Are you thinking of writing one?

Do you have something you could share... that can help someone out there?

That, my friend, could be your golden ticket to a seat at the table of today's kingdom builders.

As one pioneering kingdom builder in the digital battlefield has said:

We are builders, reformers, and most importantly: men and women of God. We build civilizations. We build roads, bridges, airplanes, space ships, and the internet. We explore the world and the stars. We spread the Gospel to every nation as we are commanded.

God is righteously judging our world, but we must not be tempted by The Enemy's deception and lies. We are going to sit back and watch as the Establishment machine consumes and destroys itself. While this happens we are going to peacefully build a future for our children.

We are building new channels of communication. New sources of information. New financial infrastructure. New healthcare systems. New economies. New cities. New churches.

- Andrew Torba, Gab.com

Mark this.

We are in a time of unprecedented spiritual warfare.

The approach of yester-years will not work very well in today's warp-speed digital environment.

In the midst of this present chaos, gigantic opportunities beckon.

Today it is medical tyranny (under the guise of a pandemic)...

... characterized by demonic lockdowns, destruction of small, family-owned businesses, mass firings, and of course church closures.

Tomorrow it might be something else entirely.

They are going to keep throwing things at us ...

... until we band together, create a parallel economy, and exit this satanic system for good.

Whether you believe that is possible or not, it is already beginning to take shape.

The trend will only accelerate in the coming years.

This is the time to jump in and stake your claim.

Become a mentor.

And your mentors will find you.
