

Written by Willie S.

Willie is a professional life coach who made the transition to an all-virtual practice a decade ago. He presents a video by his mentor on the emerging new industry of virtual coaching.

I just posted 2 videos – one from a leader in the emerging field of virtual coaching. He originally got me interested in coaching 12 years ago. He essentially created the framework that I used to launch my life coaching business.

However, it wasn't until I came in contact with elisha's prayer teachings that I was able to differentiate my offering from the competition. I did this by adding a uniquely "prophetic" angle to my practice, which has helped my clients achieve their goals faster and live more fulfilled lives.

They in turn have responded by referring family and friends. In droves. Watch the videos for business insights. Then look closely at your spiritual journey and skillset. Can you come up with a program that will help solve some urgent problem for someone? Will they be willing to pay for it? Stay blessed.